Our Strengths

Saltbush Consulting brings to the marketplace a considerable amount of Information Security and Enterprise Management expertise.

Our Information Security expertise is recognised across Government, Defence and industry sectors, and our achievements include assisting more Australian organisations to achieve formal ISO 27001 Information Security Management System certification than any other Information Security services company.

Our Enterprise Management expertise can be demonstrated through our long-term engagements with clients to deliver such services in a reliable and professional manner, and with quantifiable, measurable benefits. As a product agnostic organisation, our expertise in this area is not influenced by market pressures or unsubstantiated product claims.

We have considerable and demonstrable expertise in the provision of our other service offerings, with each of them complementing our main service offerings. Our Business Improvement and Physical Security Services, for example, have a direct relationship to Information Security, whilst our General ICT Services and Research and Development capabilities directly support our delivery of Enterprise Management Solutions.

Supporting all of our services is an internal ISO 9001 Quality Management system that ensures that we deliver the highest quality services in a manner that satisfies both client and internal company expectations.

Benefits we Deliver to Our Clients

We have a pragmatic approach to the delivery of our services, and our focus is on solving, rather than broadening, client issues.

Our methodologies and practices place significant emphasis on the underlying client business processes associated with each engagement – in this way, we aim to develop long lasting solutions rather than concentrating on specific, and possibly isolated, issues.

Being product agnostic, we are able to offer our clients unbiased advice and solutions that encompass a broad range of available marketplace options.
